LOCAL PROPERTY OF FIRST in immaculate black, his Prince Albert cont being tightly buttoned over his breast. There sauntered up to him as he sat there a fine-looking centleman, easy of manner, large of frame, dressed with careless neatness, who slapped him on the shoulder. Keifer grasped his hand. and the two stood there chatting for a few moments. Mr. Hiscock, for it was he, seemed as hearty and cordial in his greeting as though he had been one of Keifer's most ardent supporters, instead of his strongest opponent. As the hand of the big clock approached 12 Mr. Reifer went over and took his seat in the rear row, where he was nearly concealed. Mr. His-

POREMAN APPLEGATE.

Ills Expulsion from the Hobeken Fire Department Recommended.

Alderman Timkin and Alderman Quirk, orming a sub-committee of the Committee of the Whole of the Hoboken Common Council, presented a report last evening to the Committee of the Whole. They said that before the re-cent Eagle Dock fire several fire companies had refused to do duty, but when the fire broke out the most of them had turned out and worked. This was nottrue, however, of Engine Company 1. which attempted to justify its inaction on the ground that it had not been liberally treated by the Council. That was no excuse. Whatever the Council might have done could have no effect to release these men from their duty to the public. The ringleaders of the rebellion had not only refused to lend a hand at the fire, but had obstructed those who were willing to help extinguish the flames.

"We find," concluded the report, "that the foreman of the company, Ivan D. Applemate, is use the work to blame. The others were fed on and urace to make the theorem, instead of using his authority to carb the men under his orders. We therefore recommend that the said Ivan D. Applegate be expelled from the denartment."

Alderman Timk a moved the adoption of the report, and Alderman Quirk seconded the mention, but by an amendment of rock by Alderman Curta the report was referred to the Corporation Autorney in order that the Council might be advised of its power in the premises. THE MINNEAPOLIS FIRE. Flour Dust the Explosive that Demolished

Sr. Paul, Dec. 5 .- The origin of the fire and explosion at Minneapolis still remains a mystery. There are various theories. The Coroner says he has been told that the fire was started by an employee of the Pillsbury mill, On Friday last the tug Tommy Wright went in who took a lighted lamp into the oil room. The search of her. The tug returned last night. fact that fire was first discovered near the main Brookiyn, E. D., a good many years. He was | belt in the basement of the building inclines the Chairman of the Board of Trustees and Treas-urer from 1873 until about a year ago. He is employed in the building, to the belief that it proprietors of the mill, as well as the millers employed in the building, to the belief that it sprung from friction. So far as is known, no one had been in the basement lately.

The explosion in the Minneapolis mill is attributed to much the same causes as destroyed the Washburn mill three years ago. The conditions were the same in both cases. Fire was present in the Washburn mill for some time prior to the explosion, and it is agreed that the fire had made its way into the Minneapolis mill, and had been burning some time before the explosion occurred. In the experiments made by Profs. Peek and Peekham, immediately following the great Washburn mill explosion, it was shown that combustible material lacely diffused through the air would burn sufficiently rapid to cause a violent explosion. Flour and other milling products were shown to be very combusible under such conditions. They demonstrated by a series of experiments that the rapid combustion of il or dust in a strong draught, such as would be produced in a burning mill, would bring about an explosion. It is the common belief that the degreeten of the mill of Crocker, Fisk & Co. suddenly by an explosion was from causes identical with those that levelled the Washburn mill. The millers have very generally thorough cleanliness in their mills, and improvements have been made in their construction which prevent the accumulation of dust in any quantities. That explosions did not occur in the other mills is probably due to the fact that neither the Empire nor Excelsior were in operation and had been carefully cleaned out.
